The University of Notre Dame hires a joyful young lady as their first Bookstore Greeter!

The Notre Dame Fighting Irish have one of the most legendary programs in the history of college football. Robert contacted their Retail Department with the hope they could be inspired to hire a Greeter to work at their Hammes Bookstore on Game Days.

Robert and Trevor flew back to South Bend, Indiana, to share Angels for Higher's program with Notre Dame's retail executives in their campus boardroom. They prayed that God would bless their presentation, and the executives agreed to interview our candidate who had been recruited from the local Michiana Down Syndrome Association.

Notre Dame hired Heather to be their Greeter, and she is doing a wonderful job! Here's what one of her Managers said after her first day on the job:

“Heather did a fantastic job yesterday and had a great time! She was so proud of the fact that she got to meet so many people, and was surprised by how many people visit us from other states to see a Notre Dame game. This upcoming Wednesday she is going to take on a new challenge in the store, and is going to spend the day organizing items within the Departments. She has a great eye for things that are out of place, so she is going to assist us with that task. Thank you for all you do, and for bringing her to us. We are thrilled to have her on our team! She has certainly made her mark on this store. It warms my heart to see her truly enjoy her interactions with our Customers and Associates.”

Notre Dame is looking to interview two or three more candidates to work as Greeters at their hockey rink, basketball arena, and off-campus Bookstore!

The NBA's Golden State Warriors hire four Greeters to work at Chase Center!

The Golden State Warriors have won three out of the last five NBA championships. Robert contacted the Warriors in the hope they could be inspired to hire Greeters who have Down syndrome to work for their team.

Robert and Trevor flew up to San Francisco to share Angels for Higher's program with Warrior executives at their brand new Chase Center arena. They prayed God would bless their presentation and the executives agreed to interview candidates recruited with the help of the Down Syndrome Connection of the Bay Area.

Robert helped facilitate interviews between the candidates and Warrior personnel at Chase Center. The Warriors ended up hiring Ben, Matthew, William, and Sarah to work as Greeters at their arena this season!

Robert and Trevor make a presentation to all thirty Major League Baseball teams!

Robert and Trevor were invited to make a presentation at the 2019 MLB Security & Ballpark Operations Conference which was held at the Loews Hollywood Hotel in downtown Los Angeles. There were over seventy representatives (with at least one from each of the thirty MLB teams) in attendance during their talk in the largest meeting room of the hotel.

Robert and Trevor prayed God would grant them favor with the teams they spoke to at the Conference. Robert explained how hiring an Angels for Higher Greeter would promote diversity/inclusion throughout their cities, elevate the family-friendly brand of their stadiums, and lead to an astronomical public relations ROI to their teams.

Trevor handed out business cards to everyone at every table during the buffet lunch we were invited to afterwards. Right away, representatives from eleven different teams expressed interest in regards to incorporating Angels for Higher's program at their stadiums, and they offered their business cards in return to help expedite the process.

Robert is currently following up with these teams with the hope that on-site presentations can be scheduled sometime during late-January/early-February of 2020. Robert and Trevor are praying these teams' executives will be inspired to set up interviews with local candidates who have been pre-screened and pre-qualified by Angels for Higher. Robert and Trevor's further prayers are that every team will hire at least one Greeter who can then bring his or her unbridled joy to baseball fans, fellow employees, professional athletes, team executives and the people in their surrounding communities.

2019: A Year In Review

- At end of 2018, Trevor alone was working as a Greeter for the L.A.

Angels, Anaheim Ducks, L.A. Rams and U.S.C. Trojans.

- At the start of 2019, Angels for Higher prayed that God would grant us favor with four additional teams, and that they would hire eight more Greeters.
- At the end of 2019, Angels for Higher has inspired seven additional teams to hire a total of twenty more Greeters!
- With the hopeful participation of the eleven MLB teams, prospects are promising for Angels for Higher to double these two 2019 totals by the end of March 2020!
